BRING ON THE CURE!!!

Word of the Month:

Bradykinesia: Greek roots: bradys = slow + kinesis = movement; Slowed ability to start and continue movements, and impaired ability to adjust the body's position. Can be a symptom of neurological disorders, particularly Parkinson's disease, or as a side effect of medications.

OUR APRIL PROGRAM:

We are fortunate to again have as our speaker the dynamic and uplifting psychologist Dr. Allan G. Hedberg whose topic will be "Living With the challenges of Parkinson's Disease."

Dr. Hedberg is a clinical and consulting psychologist and maintains a private practice in Fresno, California. He received his Ph.D. from Queen's University in 1969. He is an author of several books and has written over 60 professional publications.

Dr. Hedberg will lead a discussion and answer questions regarding depression and anxiety that so many of us are experiencing either as a symptom of Parkinson's disease itself or in reaction to having a chronic illness in general or as a side effect of medications. Feel free to write out your questions in advance of the meeting.

At about 11:00 a.m., we will take a 15-minute break after which Dr. Hedberg will meet with our Care Partners in a break-out session. These sessions are highly beneficial because they allow our Care Partners to be supportive of one another and to learn from one another's experiences. Meanwhile, those remaining will converse and have "Show & Tell" (please bring items and tips that work and that don't work so we may learn from them).

While they're meeting separately, there are many things for the rest of us to talk about as we, too, learn from and support one another.

Please respect the confidentiality of personal medical information revealed to one another in our meetings. Always check with your own doctor before changing your medications or treatments based on what you read in this Newsletter or hear at our meetings from others, even medical experts, as Parkinson's disease is such a complex disease and our respective bodies react differently to the disease and to the medications and treatments prescribed to treat it.

Getting to Know: DARLENE MORALES

Darlene Morales & son Anthony

My name is Darlene Morales and I've been a member of the Greater Fresno Parkinson's Support Group for quite a while, but I haven't participated for some time. I hope to change that. Every Parkinson's patient needs to attend such a group for socialization and information.

I was born and raised in North Dakota by German immigrant grandparents for 12 years. I went to a country school with a barn for our horses that we often rode to school. There were 10 students in the whole school, 3 in my grade. Outside latrines were standard and no phone for my first years. My mother decided to bring me to California where she lived. So I moved to California in 1956...palm trees, Hollywood and movie stars, right? Nope. No movie stars just Livingston, CA, then Merced, CA, and Madera CA where I graduated from high school in 1962. I attended Coalinga J.C. for one year.

I met my husband Gene Morales in Fresno where I lived and worked in 1965. In 1966 I started my federal career at the Local Draft Board #68. In 1972 we bought our first house and had our daughter Aimee Marie. I started my second job at Alcohol Tobacco & Firearms. We moved to Seattle area where our son Anthony was born in 1975. Then we moved to Walnut Creek, CA. I started back to work for the Department of Energy in downtown Oakland for two years. Then back to Fresno in 1982. I finally found what I liked at the Veterans Hospital where I remained employed for 18 years. I was Secretary to the Chief of Engineering. Due to my Parkinson's, I retired from the hospital with 28 years with the Federal Government.

Anthony graduated from San Joaquin Memorial High School and from University of Washington in Seattle (Huskies) and is now teaching at Seaside High School in Seaside, CA. Aimee graduated from Hoover High and Fresno State and received her teaching credential and is teaching for Central Unified.

My first signs of PD were when I walked and had terrible balance. I also noticed a lot of fatigue. I spoke to my Internist many times over a period of 3 years, and he didn't think I knew what I was talking about. Eventually I insisted on an appointment with a Neurologist who knew right away that I have PD.

Upon hearing the diagnosis of Parkinson's, my daughter and I decided to go to Italy for 2 weeks. We landed in Zurich (North) and proceeded to head to Sorrento (South) via Venice, Florence, Sienna, Cortona, and Pompeii. We slept mostly in Hostels and had a wonderful time. We drank gallons of cappuccinos, gelatos, and ate wonderful Italian food and lost weight with all the walking. Go figure.

I love to be on my back patio, and I'm usually working with flowers, reading the paper or just loafing. I also love to visit my son and daughter-in-law in Monterey or messing around with my daughter shopping or watching "Top Chef" or cooking together.

Addendum: In all fairness to my Internist, he probably saved my life during an office visit in 2009 when he was checking my neck and saw a problem with my lymph nodes. Two weeks later I received Chemo for Non-Hodgkin's Lymphoma Stage 3, which I am in remission from now.

Celebrating Parkinson's Awareness Month: Chock full o'Nuts Partners with PDF to Fight Parkinson's:

Parkinson's Disease Foundation and Chock full o'Nuts are joining forces to fight Parkinson's beginning with nationwide promotions to raise awareness around the country about the disease and the need to fund research for new treatments and a cure. PDF and Chock share a common history, having both been founded by the late William Black. This partnership will begin just in time for Parkinson's Awareness Month this April, and it is coming to a community near you. Where should you look to find it? Check your Sunday circulars on the weekend of March 27 for a special coupon and advertisement promoting Parkinson's Awareness Month. Check out the Chock full o'Nuts coffee cans in your local grocery store. This spring, new cans will be featuring information about PDF's mission to fight Parkinson's disease. If you live or work in New York City, or will be visiting the city, you may notice Chock full o'Nuts trucks promoting the fight against Parkinson's and distributing free coffee. You may also visit Chock's coffee shops to see cups and other items with information inviting people to join the fight against PD. Robin Elliott, PDF's Executive Director, said of the partnership, "PDF has been singularly committed to finding the causes of and a cure for Parkinson's disease since that day back in 1957 when Mr. Black first found out that his close friend and associate had developed Parkinson's and realized to his amazement that there were no effective treatments for the condition."

Workshop for Parkinson's Disease Care Partners:

There will be an opportunity for our Parkinson's disease Care Partners to attend a workshop given by the Valley Caregiver Resource Center on "The Power of Relaxation" on Friday, April 15th, 2011 from 2:00 pm to 4:00 pm. The workshop is free to Care Partners registered with the Center. Class size is limited. There will be a free 10-minute massage for all attendees. Call VCRC at (559) 224-9154 or (800) 541-8614 for registration and workshop location details.

Synopsis of Our March 12, 2011, Program:

There were 30 people attending the wonderful presentation by physical fitness/ Tai Chi teacher Debi Kallas. She recommends a minimum of 30 minutes of exercise 3 times a week, and static stretching (aka “hold stretch” as opposed to “ballistic stretching/bouncing) at least 10 minutes a day. One should never hold your breath while stretching or exercising. Debi demonstrated some of the exercises and stretches and distributed outlines of various exercises she recommends for us. She stressed that People With Parkinson’s should avoid forward shoulder rolls because PD can lead to a humped back. The “Morning Stretch Program” includes: Backward Shoulder Rolls, Torso Rotations, Waist Bends, Chest Stretches, Hamstring Stretches, and Quadriceps Stretches. She also gave attendees Therabands with which to workout.

For more info, call Fresno Adult School (559) 457-6000 and ask for the Older Adult Program.
